FRIENDS TELL HER HOW MUCH BETTER SHE NOW LOOKS

This Michigan Woman Suffered From Thin Blood But Found
the Remedy She Needed

"I was nervous, irritable and felt very miserable all the time," said Mrs. Elizabeth Bouck, of No. 122 Mulberry street, Jackson, Mich., who suffered for many months from general debility which on one occasion resulted in the blood becoming thin. "My heart bothered me a great deal," she continued, "and it beat very fast. I had smothering sensations and suffered from shortness of breath. I felt nervous and had nervous spells and severe headaches. I lost weight and had very little appetite. One day I happened to read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in a newspaper and I began to take the remedy. I gained some strength after taking the first box and I began to eat more. Then my color became better and there was so much change in my appearance that my friends told me how much better I was looking. My nerves became strong and I was able to sleep soundly. I have been well ever since I took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I cannot speak too highly of them, for they have helped me so much."

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood-builder and nerve tonic. The rich red blood that they make not only carries color to the cheeks and lips and gives vigor to the system, but also revitalizes exhausted nerves and quiets the pains of neuralgia and sciatica. Sufferers from nervous disorders who have been taking treatment without success should investigate the tonic method. Write today to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the booklet, 'Diseases of the Nervous System.' Your own druggist can supply you with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, 60 cents per box. BACK HURT ALL THE TIME

Mrs. Hill Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Remover
The Cause.

Knoxville, Tenn.—My back hurt me all the time. I was all run down, could not eat and my head bothered me, all caused by female trouble. I with these troubles and doctors did me no good. Your medicine helped my sister so she advised me to take it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the liver was washed and now I am well, can eat heartily and work. I give you my thanks for your great medicine. You may publish my letter and I will tell everyone what your medicine did for me. Mrs. Hill, 415 Jackson St., Knoxville, Tennessee.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you are ill do not drag along and continue to suffer day in and day out, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a woman's remedy for women's ills.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Luster at Once

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous. Admiring Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients. A large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound, thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray hair is not youthful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Weyl's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell because it is done so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by moving all gray hairs here and there. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

"For goodness sake," Margaret, you'll scare the child, coming at him like that! You'll have to go at him gradually. He's forgotten you, completely. There, there, Grannie won't let anybody hurt you!"

The baby had turned as I approached him and was hiding his face in his grandmother's skirts. Curiously enough, my first emotion at seeing my baby boy turn away from me was not one of disappointment, but of relief. I felt that I was not going to be disappointed in my mother-in-law.

I acquiesced her fully of any attempt to wean the baby away from me, but I was sure that he was actually clinging to her for the reason that she was his grandmother. I felt that I was not going to be disappointed in my mother-in-law.

"I told you so," Dicky's voice, laughing, with maddening incomprehension, as he looked at me. "You said you would go away for a month, didn't you? Here, Pete, come to your dad. That's the boy!"

He snatched his fingers at the baby, who was hiding his face in his grandmother's skirts. "Both the gesture and the nickname, 'Pete,' are things I've suddenly detest, but I have always sworn that my displeasure, knowing that I was only irritating Dicky, and do no possible good."

A Sudden Outburst.

"Richard!" His mother's voice, dripping with disappointment, as she pointed Richard toward me, to come to you when you call him by so disreputable a name. "Pete, indeed! My grandchild! No, no, precious," she said to the baby, who had just been snatched from me. "Mustn't go. Stay with Grannie."

My small son has developed a will of his own, however. Whether his outburst was fright at the confusion, temper at being thwarted, or a combination of the two I do not know, but at any rate he suddenly sat down hard on the floor, screwed up his face, and sent forth a howl that told us in no doubt as to his displeasure. And when his grandmother stooped to raise him he struck at her with his baby hands. Upon any other occasion I should have "spanked" the hands lightly, as a beginning of baby discipline, but I am afraid that I wickedly rejoiced at the little exhibition of temper.

"Well, Dicky," his brother-in-law, drawled, "I don't think you'll need to send that kid South for his lungs this winter at any rate."

It was exiling his offspring delightfully. Junior's outbursts of temper always amuse him.

"Mother, why don't you box with him?" he asked. "It would be awfully good practice for the kid. I think he ought to be a feather-weight champion, myself."

THE REAL WELCOME.

Mother Graham raised her head with the intent of bottle in her hand, indignantly proud of her grandson and his attachment for her. I knew that she was both humiliated and exasperated by the baby's exhibition of temper toward her. Her eyes fell upon Katie, over whose features had spread a delighted grin, and she was at once provided with a scapegoat.

"I nervously started at the snap in her voice. 'Come and take this child instead of standing there grinning like an ape. There's probably a pin sticking in him. I told you to be careful when you dressed him.'"

Knowing Katie's temper, I fairly held my breath as I waited to see what she would do. But to my amazement she evinced no sign of displeasure unless her quickly heightened color could be construed as such. And I could have sworn that there was a distinctly triumphant flash in her eyes as she hurried forward and picked up the screaming baby.

"Dot little babee, he want his mudder, doot's all matter by heem," she observed with a superb air of disdain. "Come, babee," she crooned at Junior, whose soba subsided instantly. "Voto I tell you to say ven a mamma come home," she manna-mannaed. "See it, babee, doot!"

Her voice would have coaxed the wildest bird from its bush. As she spoke she turned Junior gently around so that he was facing me. I saw through her little plot in an instant, and blessed her for her thoughtfulness. She must have been daily reminding the child of my coming, for he was so little speechless. "Katie, Katie, my mother-in-law got out the first syllable of the girl's name, but I saw her daughter make a quick change of mind, which for a woman she respected. As for the rest of the family, they were all watching the child with the respectful admiration generally used by relatives toward a first baby."

And then, forcing another link in the chain of affection that bound me to my faithful little maid, my baby laughed engagingly at me, and hissed the little speech she had taught him. "Hel-lo, mumm-ma, home!"

The next instant with my face in his curls, my foolish heartache and my resentment had fled together.

Harriet Braithwaite pressed my arm significantly when she gave me a welcoming kiss. With Junior still in my arms, for I had no intention of relinquishing him to anybody for a while—I nodded understandingly, and managed as soon as possible to get up to my room which she was occupying during her visit. Dicky, my father and I were to continue to accept Mrs. Durkee's neighborly hospitality until the departure of our visitors.

"Come in, Margaret," she smiled brightly at me and made me comfortable in her dignified, gracious way. Harriet Braithwaite is a woman who is the grand dame of her rare smile that one distinctly values.

"Before we speak of anything else," she said when she had settled Junior and me upon the chaise longue by the window. "Let me tell you that I fully appreciate the successful effort you made to keep your peace when mother precipitated that unfortunate incident about the baby's recognition of you. Mother is a one of the best women in the world, but it is a word that isn't in her vocabulary. The good fairy who had that quality to give must have been forebodingly detained by some wicked spirit at the time of her christening. I must confess I had misgivings about the ultimate consequences of having you two in the same house, but you have managed her so beautifully my dear, and as for my daughter I'm very grateful to you."

A Demure Request.

"Thank you," I said a bit tremu-

(These remarkable revelations are written by Miss Molly Wynter, the famous Medium in the U.S., whose amazing seances set all London talking. Miss Wynter tells exactly how the effects were produced which seemed so baffling, and in this chapter she lets readers into the secret of some of her wildest mysteries.)

By Miss Molly Wynter.
CHAPTER IV.
(The World-Famous Medium)

One of the most convincing of my little tricks is called the "spirit pendulum test." It is a simply-constructed property, and can be made in a variety of forms. When I give private seances at the houses of my friends, I make an apparatus out of articles that can be easily borrowed. To a flat wooden ruler I tie three or four strings and on the end of each string I fix a weight of some kind—preferably a small ball. Any thing, however, will answer for the weight, and at times I have used coins, watchwinds, watches, etc. I rest each end of the wooden ruler on two supports, such as vases, or photo frames, adjusting the length of the hanging strings so that the weights clear the top of the table on which the supports stand.

Ring the Bell

At approximately four inches away from each hanging weight I place a glass tumbler so that if the weight swung out it could hit the glass and cause it to give forth a bell-like tinkle. That is exactly what happens. We form a circle with our hands upon the table, and, without turning out the lights, I invite the sitters to pick out any pendulum they please and to ask a question that it shall answer by tapping on the glass nearest to it. As in the case of the tapping hand, three taps mean "yes," two taps signifies "no," and one tap indicates that the spirit friends are "doubtful."

Having decided upon the question to be answered and which pendulum is to reply, we just watch and wait. Slowly but surely the chosen string begins to oscillate. Then it swings over so slightly and gradually increases its swinging distance until it reaches out and taps quite clearly on the nearest tumbler the exact number of times that I wish it to do.

How It Is Done

The other strings remain mysteriously still, and just as long as the questioner keeps on with the first pendulum continue to respond. But the instant anyone suggests that he or she prefers another pendulum to "speak," the one indicated starts immediately to get into its stride, while the first pendulum correspondingly slows down and eventually comes to a dead stop. Each and all of the pendulums are prepared to take up the running on request and to carry on indefinitely.

I do not know of any other test that appears to be of such a genuine spiritualistic nature, but, of course, there is a purely natural cause for the pendulum's mysterious behavior.

Directly one particular string has been chosen I apply a slight pressure to the table with my fingers, not making any perceptible movement, but merely pressing firmly on the table top. Previously my hands were resting lightly upon it and the action of pressing the table sets all the strings vibrating. I single out the string that has been selected and watch it. As it oscillates in my direction I apply my pressure on the table, and when it moves away from me I again press firmly on the table top.

swings away I remove the pressure. This has a retarding effect on the string and prevents it traveling far enough to strike the glass.

If after the first question, others were asked, I simply repeat the operation, and when a second string is selected I apply my attention to the new one and forget the old, which speedily settles down quietly.

This is a thing that anyone can do without practice. It does not matter how firm or solid the table is upon which you work, the result is certain.

(Tomorrow Miss Wynter will tell how "strings become mixed").

Only One String Vibrates

What happens is that the chosen string, and "masses" are vibrating as a harmony. The rest do not matter. After the second or third vibration the oscillations of the selected pendulum increase, and still applying and removing the pressure of my fingers, I can now control its movements just as surely as if it were a swing and I was manipulating it with the use of all my muscles.

In less than a minute the pendulum swings out as far as the tumbler and gives a warning tinkle and I announce the spirits are ready. Then, if I want three taps, I press firmly as the string swings away from me on its next three journeys. To stop it rapping any more I reverse the increasing operation after the third rap. This time as the pendulum swings toward me I press and as it

Your Business and the Weather Vane

WEATHER conditions vitally influence every business—large or small.

It is not only the dealer in overcoats and umbrellas who is affected by a cold and rainy winter. The sale of farm tractors in the Northwest was materially lessened by a late and rainy spring.

When the prunes were caught in the rain two years ago, Santa Clara Valley growers did not buy the automobiles, victrolas, and other semi-necessities which they would have bought otherwise.

The dry warm winter of 1919 and 1920, on the other hand, not only affected the purchasing power of the farmers of California, but—in making necessary the rationing of electric energy—hampered every business using this power.

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good", is an old but true saying when applied to business. Almost every shower, every change of wind increases prosperity for one group—and lessens it for another. Even the Los Angeles earthquakes created an unprecedented demand for one story bungalows with an equal lack of demand for apartments.

TO INCREASE your profits, determine just how weather conditions affect your business—keep your "weather eye" open—and then change your business plans from month to month, week to week, or even day to day before your competitor realizes how these same conditions will touch him.

BERKELEY HIGHLANDS KENSINGTON PARK FORECLOSURE SALE

Acre and Half-Acre Homesites

All improvements--local and transbay transportation---wonderful view---close to business center of Berkeley and University of California---for sale at little more than the cost of the street work.

With the startling reductions made in Berkeley Highlands and Kensington Park--averaging 65 per cent throughout these two properties---you can buy quarter, half, and acre homesites, with double frontages, in the finest part of Berkeley's newer residence section at prices but little greater than the actual cost of duplicating the improvements made.

Making such an offer as this is only possible because

The Oakland Bank of Savings is selling out Kensington Park, on which it foreclosed over two years ago. The holder of the Berkeley Highlands deed of trust has ordered the immediate sale of this property.

During this FORECLOSURE SALE you can buy fully improved acreage with broad, well-paved streets, parked boulevards, sidewalks, concrete curbs and gutters, cement sidewalks, sewers, electricity, water, telephone, local and transbay transportation and "One of the world's most wonderful marine views"

Prices are greatly below those being asked for practically unimproved acreage. The City Engineer of Berkeley has estimated that to duplicate the improvements made in the property on sale would cost at least $2500 an acre.

This is a splendid opportunity to buy a large piece of land for very little money.

Priest Will Preach on Wage Subject

Father Robert Scamou will begin a series of talks in St. Leo's church, 160 Madison avenue at Ridgeway, at 8 o'clock on Wednesday, January 12, on "Living Wage," tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. He will treat on "The Right to Life," on Friday, January 13, at 8 o'clock, and "Decent Livelihood," on Saturday, January 14, at 8 o'clock. Father Scamou has just returned from the East, where he spent a year teaching the Spoken Word in the Washington, D. C., area. He is now in the Dominican House of Studies, where he spent five months in Rome, Italy, studying the relation of mind and voice under the great Doctor of the Church, St. Thomas Aquinas. He has studied in New York under Father Samuel Kanzer, who is one of the best known Spoken Word dictators in the country. Father Scamou has recently been appointed by the Archbishop of Miami as diocesan missionary and will be in charge of the Spoken Word program in the Holy Family Church, 178 Ridgeway avenue, from January 15 to 19. He will be in and has been engaged by four dioceses in the United States to give lectures in January.

DANISH-NORWEGIAN
Rev. E. Engebretsen will occupy the pulpit of the Danish-Norwegian church during both services tomorrow, speaking in the morning on the theme "The Parting of the Road," and in the evening at the 8 o'clock service on the subject "The True Wind." Sunday school and Bible classes for the adults will be held at 10 o'clock and Epworth League at 7 p. m.
Special music for both services will be rendered by the choir, and vocal solos will be rendered by Mrs. E. Kroll of Christiania, Norway.

COMMITTEE ON NAVAL BASE TO ARRIVE NOV. 13

Visitors Will Spend Five Days Inspecting Prospective Sites About Bay.

The congressional commission on naval base sites has rearranged its itinerary so as to give not quite a full week to the San Francisco bay situation.

This was the information contained in a telegram received this morning by Joseph E. Caine, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, from Congressman Fred A. Britton of Chicago, chairman of the House committee, who is in charge of the itinerary.

BRITTON SENDS WIRE

Britton wired that the committee would arrive here Monday morning, November 15, and leave San Francisco on Saturday, November 20, for Monterey, where the senators and representatives will look over certain projects at the request of Secretary Daniels of the navy department.

As the congressional commission is now en route for the west, having left Chicago last night for Seattle, the local plans for entertainment and hearings will have to be held in abeyance for a time.

Alameda will give the commission a school children's flag welcome, according to announcement made by Carl Strom, president of the Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the naval base committees of the two cities in the Hotel Oakland yesterday. This will be along the lines of the welcome extended to Secretary Daniels and Admiral Hugh Rodman in September, 1919, when the waving flags and the cheering school pupils were declared the most colorful affair of that week in the bay section.

MEETING CALLED

Caine, as chairman, sent out a call today for a joint meeting on Monday of the committees on general arrangements of the chambers of commerce of Oakland and Alameda. This will be held in the Hotel Oakland and will decide the details of luncheons, automobile rides, banquets and other forms of entertainment for the congressmen.

The committee from the Oakland Chamber of Commerce consists of Caine, J. T. Knowland, George A. Ames, J. C. Capwell and J. H. King. And the Alameda chamber's committee consists of President Carl E. Strom, City Manager C. E. Hewes and Secretary E. C. Soules.

Lectures Scheduled
by U. C. Extension

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—Two lectures are to be given in Berkeley soon by the Extension Division of the University of California. Wednesday evening an illustrated travelogue, "Yesterday and Today in the Philippine Islands," will be given by Miss Jessie Agnes Dwyer of Washington in Wheeler auditorium.

The following Tuesday evening Dr. J. Macie Address of the United States Bureau of Education and the Child Health Organization of America, will speak on health education. Dr. Address is also to speak in San Francisco at the University of California Medical College Monday, Nov. 15, and at 1717 Sutter street, under the auspices of University Extension. He will also speak at Mills College.

Porter School Is
Looted of Tools

ALAMEDA, Nov. 6.—Thieves entered the manual training department of the Porter school last night and stole a large quantity of the tools of the institution. The thieves thoroughly looted the place. A check is being made up to determine the extent of the loss. Schumacher, the janitor, stated to the police that he had found all the doors and windows of the school tightly locked this morning.

Jack the Hugger No Longer Strikes Terror Into Fluttering Heart of Fair Femininity

Here is MISS GRACE BLISS, assistant, throwing EARL WRIGHT, physical culture instructor at the University of California, by means of the simple "erist break." Co-eds are flinging defiance to bandits, burglars and bad men after a few lessons under these experts in the art of weaponless defense.

PROFESSORS TO BE STUDENTS IN PAPER GRADING

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—Instructors must go to school at the University of California in order that the corrections which they make on the college students' examinations will be uniform, according to an announcement made by Professor R. P. Kurtz of the English department. Professor Kurtz has charge of arrangements for English examinations which are required of all students entering the university, and he declares that the readers who will correct the papers at the U. C. have more advanced classes to learn the standard of correction, which the English department will set. Thirty members of the faculty are at present enrolled in the class, those attending being chosen by Professor Kurtz. The class is not open to other faculty members or students of the university.

Store Proprietor Is Robbed at Gun Point

Two well-dressed young men late last night held up a cigar store at 497 Twentieth street and escaped with $50. A. A. Lundin, proprietor, was alone in the store when one of the men asked for a package of cigarettes. A second man produced a revolver and ordered him to put his hands up. The gunwielder pointed at Lundin while his companion frantically cashed the drawer. The men escaped in an automobile which had been left at the curb.

The men were described to the police as being about 26 years of age.

Student Union Has Many Unpaid Pledges

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—Threatening to blackmail students who have neglected to pay pledges made to the student union fund of the university, the committee in charge of collecting the $15,000 which is still owing announced a new drive will begin Monday. During the past two weeks only $25 has been collected. Fraternity and sorority members have paid more than 30 per cent of what has been contributed, while non-organization students have paid little of the amount they owe, it is reported.

U. C. Law Review Will Appear Today

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—The November issue of the University of California Law Review will appear on the college campus today. Arriving at the University of California faculty will be included in the magazine, and the feature article will be a discussion of the uniform sales laws by Professor A. M. Kidd.

Weaponless Defense Learned by Co-eds to Make Bad Man's Life Miserable

Defiance to Jack, the Hugger! Challenge to the bold highwayman! These attentions are not grateful. A laugh to the bandit, the burglar and bad man! The maid no longer calls the "cop." The woman has mastered the art of Weaponless Defense. Science and her latest hog of tricks has exalted skill over force. Out yonder in the University of California the dainty, delicate co-ed is learning how to throw the villain, to teach the young woman of the university the fine art of the "erist break" and other clever less against her weaker strength. It is a fundamental part of the higher education of women.

It is easy—when you know how. It is simple—when you have learned. It gives a warm courage—when it is mastered. The lurid tales of helpless maidens in the terrible power of bad men belong to the lavender-scented past.

Earl Wright, physical culture instructor and weaponless defense expert, is teaching the young women of the university the fine art of the "erist break" and other clever

Small Boy Is Cause Of Two Wrecked Cars

ALAMEDA, Nov. 6.—What was once a handsome new automobile of J. Mulvaney, the Alameda real estate man, is a sad looking affair today. Likewise the machine of Mrs. H. E. McDonald is sadly the worse. In dodging a boy on a bicycle at Park and Central avenue, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Campbell was compelled to crash into the rear of Mulvaney's car. It was a new car and when the frame was over his gun, the tank was missing, the rear fenders were smashed and there was other damage. Mrs. McDonald's car had it from when torn off an axle broken and other damage done. The boy on the bicycle, who was the cause of the trouble, rode serenely on.

U. C. Professor Will Talk on Government

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—What is the Science of Government? Editor Lawson, professor of government at the University of California, will discuss this question at a public lecture to be given at the University Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. The lecture is to be in Wheeler hall.

LOS ANGELES GETS RAIN

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—A heavy rain fell in this vicinity early today. The precipitation in the city was .27 of an inch, making 1.07 inches for the season.

EIGHT OFFICIALS OF CITY WILL GO TO CHICO MEET

League of Municipalities Will Consider Many Questions of Public Interest.

Eight city officials leave tomorrow for the meeting of the League of Municipalities at Chico, which opens Monday and ends Thursday. Oakland's quota will include: Commissioner Frederick Soderberg, City Attorney H. L. Hagan, being Dr. Kirby Smith, head of the health department, J. H. Mellon, secretary of the health department, Dr. C. C. King, city veterinarian, Frank C. Merritt, assistant city clerk, Leon Gray, assistant city attorney, George Mattie, superintendent of streets, N. W. Cook, efficiency expert.

One of the questions to come before the league will be the relations of cities with the Railroad Commission. Another matter will be the question of public ownership of public utilities. Every city has its advocates of this measure, and their combined force at Chico is expected to be large. Oakland is not in any campaign at this point and will not discuss the matter except incidentally, it is said.

RATE INCREASE QUESTION

Oakland officials intend to bring up the matter of the increases of rates granted to transportation companies about the bay, according to City Attorney Hagan, who is incidentally scheduled to deliver an address on the powers of a municipal civil service board.

That a municipality is often handicapped in an intelligent effort to base proper transportation rates was admitted today by Leon Gray, assistant city attorney.

Any long transportation company," said Gray, "this at its command experts in the fixing of rates. Naturally a city is not prepared to hire experts and in consequence is often bewildered on the subject. A proper solution might be that the city be assessed for the hire of the best experts in such cases. The cost would not be much to the taxpayer and it would be amply repaid in the intelligent conclusions arrived at."

EXPERTS ARE NEEDED

The Railroad Commission is often blamed for adverse judgments when the city is studying its own case because it has not the funds to deliver the Commission's evidence. The Railroad Commission will be present at Chico, and the Oakland cohorts possible to him.

Mayor Decrees ARMISTICE WEEK FOR OAKLAND

Proclamation of Governor Is Supplemented by One From City's Chief Executive.

Mayor Davis this morning issued a proclamation asking the citizens of Oakland to participate heartily in the Armistice Day celebration, December 11, and the programs to last throughout the week, ending with Armistice Sunday. The proclamation follows:

To the People of Oakland:

Armistice Day, Thursday, November 11, has been proclaimed a legal holiday throughout California by the governor of our State. This is the national organization of the day when the terrible world war was brought to its close, when the roar of the guns was stopped and when the central powers admitted their defeat.

TO OBSERVE WEEK

Plans have been made in Oakland to observe not only Armistice Day, but the entire week. The American Legion and the Allied Players' Club, organizations made up of men who took part in the great conflict, are presenting during the week a special military musical comedy at the Y. Liberty playhouse, the proceeds from this production to be used in aiding the incapacitated service men.

The Merchants' Exchange, the American Legion, the Allied Veterans' Club and all other veterans' organizations in Oakland are co-operating in the plans for Armistice Day. A parade will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning of Armistice Day, in which all organizations in the city will be represented. The program includes a barbecue and basket picnic for the service men at Lakeside Park, with a grand ball at the auditorium to close the day's celebration. The program is being planned to honor all those who have seen service in any war.

ARMISTICE SUNDAY

In order that the week may be brought to a fitting close the President of the United States has set aside Sunday, November 14, as a day in which to honor the memory of those men who made the supreme sacrifice. In every church in our city special Armistice Sunday services have been arranged to reverence their memory.

Armistice Day holds a special place in our hearts. The day and the week will be observed by everyone in our city in honor of our service men and the work which they did for us.

JOHN L. DAVIS,
Mayor of the City of Oakland.

Two Ex-Army Flyers Form Auto Company

Eddie V. Rickenbacker, former American army aviator and automobile racer, and R. C. "Chick" Durant, also famous about the same lines, are directors in a new corporation called the Sheridan Motor Company, which will manufacture and sell cars in California. The company was organized today by County Clerk George J. Gross today. The concern, which is capitalized at $100,000, with its principal place of business in Oakland, will have headquarters in the city. The other director is C. M. Steves of San Francisco.

Tennessee Republicans Gain in Legislature

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 6.—Complete figures on the next legislature show that the Republicans have made a total gain of nine seats in both houses. In the Senate they have gained three seats and in the House six. Formerly they had a total membership of 27 in the House and 6 in the Senate. In the legislature which meets in January they will have 9 in the Senate and 33 in the House.

Governor A. H. Roberts yesterday wired congratulations to Colonel Alf A. Taylor on his election to the governorship. Taylor, Rep., defeated Roberts by more than 50,000 votes.

Death in Boozie Raid, Clergyman Is Held

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 6.—Rev. J. D. L. Spracklin, pastor of the Sandwich Methodist church, and a special liquor license inspector, are detained in the Sandwich jail following the shooting to death early today of Beverly Trumbull, proprietor of an inn. The shooting occurred during a raid on the inn.

Notice to Theater Goers!

Ball Star Is Hit by Auto, Arm Escapes

Concern, deep concern, had left its mark on the earnest faces of the ball players as they gathered about the door of the building at Fourth and Franklin streets, which serve the city as an emergency hospital.

Solenni and troubled was the air of expectancy, broken only by a deep breathed "gosh" or an unhappy "gee" as the athletes waited.

More disrupting than any number of envelopes under major league pillows was this thing that had fallen upon that portion of baseballdom which has its shrine, and ball park on a lot at Tenth and Jefferson streets.

The "gang" was plunged into gloom, for the "gang" inspecting his handiwork, feeling his arm, shouting his name. And so they bore him away, back to the lot at Tenth and Jefferson streets, which lies across Tenth street, after a ball an intruding automobile driven by M. G. Kauteh of 375 Eighth street had struck him down.

Francis V. Lee of 2412 Broadway, carried Riddle to the Emergency hospital, and the team dropped after him in woeful array, but it was the team that brought Bobby back.

Probably the parents of the inimitable southpaw, who reside at 572 Tenth street, have found out about it by this time.

Coal Company's 1000-TON STEEL BARGE LAUNCHED

Vessel Will Go Into Service
From Oakland to Sacramento River Points.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 6.—While Helen Coxhead, 12 years old, daughter of Frank G. Coxhead, broke a bottle over the bow and a large delegation of workmen and spectators looked on, the new 1000-ton steel barge of the Standard Coal Company slid into the Estuary near the Webster-street bridge at 8:45 o'clock this morning. The launching went without a hitch.

The barge, which is the second of two set up by the Standard Company, of which Coxhead is president, will be moored for a month while superstructure and coal conveying machinery is set up. She will then go into the coal-carrying service from Oakland to Sacramento river points.

The machinery on the barge will load or unload 150 tons of coal an hour, making it possible to load and unload the barge in a day. The craft, the first of its kind on the coast, is christened the Arthur Sweet.

Group Arrangement Is Plan for Students

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—Arranging students in groups according to the average of their class marks, the French language department at the University of California will adopt a new class system next semester. Professor H. Michael, in charge of the department, had planned to inaugurate the new system Monday, but the difficulties encountered in re-arranging the large number of students now enrolled prevented the change. Under the new plan, all those who are backward in their lessons will be placed in separate groups, and will be taught by special instructors. Those that can do the work more rapidly will be allowed to go ahead as quickly as possible, moving from group to group as they advance.

Manila Government Delays Student Aid

BERKELEY, Nov. 6.—The proposed $50,000 home which the Filipino students of the University of California will build in Berkeley, cannot be erected until next year, according to the authorities, and therefore work has been started to renovate the present living quarters of the Filipino Club. The money which the students agreed to raise as their share of the cost of the building the home has been in a large measure secured, and the colleagues are now awaiting word from Manila granting them an additional $25,000 from the government to allow them to complete their plans.
